STUDIES IN CRIMES.

Real Surprises in a Current Report of Riverside Penitentiary.

WHAT CLASSES CONTRIBUTE TO IT.

Nationalities, Trades, Professions and Proclivities of Felons.

Wright, warden, to the Legislature, is just completed and ready for perusal. It covers the period from January 1, 1887, to December 31, 1888, and is full of very instructive data.

The three great factors in prison management and reform are labor, learning and religious service, and without the first the others become largely inoperative.

Warden Wright, than whom there is between the period for the period form are labor, learning and residue to the period form are labor, learni

For example, with regard to the religious the penitentiary in 1887, 85 were Catholics, 73 Methodists, 26 Presbyterians, 20 Lutherans, 19 Baptists, 12 Episcopalians, 5 United Presbyterians, 4 Campbellites, 3 United Brethren, 1 Hebrew, 5 of other religious beliefs, and only 9-mark the number-of no religious belief whatever. That's a mighty good showing for the agnostics, dead sure! Just think of it! Less than 4 per cent of all religious connection or belief whatever; and the others, each and every one of them, in the penitentiary as the representative of some church. For 1888 the showing is not form of classification, but not all that is needed.

Other details, strengthening its force, are easily odists, 79; Presbyterians, 30; Lutherans, 27; Baptists, 16; Episcopalians, 8; other religious beliefs, 10, and of no religious belief whatever, 10, out of the 266 prisoners received during the year-still less than 4 per

NOT ARGUMENTS AT ALL. These are the simple yet astenishing facts. The champions of religion will not argue therefrom, however, that churches and church association were a stimulus to this great proportion of crime, but, on the contrary, that these hundreds of sinful hangerson had really absorbed or exercised nothing but that slender faith which, as all the churches teach, must be dead when unac-companied by works, by abstinence from sin and crime.

Having learned thus how the churches are represented among criminals, perhaps the reader would like to know what classes of foreigners, or rather what nativities, con-tribute most largely to this prison's population. Well, here are the leaders, as set down in the official report, for the two years in which 528 prisoners were received: Germany, 35; Eugland, 24; Ireland, 23; Italy, 9; Canada, 5; Scotland, 5; Wales, 4; Sweden, 2, and Hungary, Belgium, Poland, France and Switzerland, 1 each. Of the 528, 273 were born in the Keystone State, 41 in New York and 16 in Ohio.

But," asks some very inquisitive reader. "are most of those felons educated or ignorant?" The chances are, if left to answer his own question, the reader would answer it by guessing wrong again; for, in this respect as in many others, the report is an eyeopener, a painful surprise. Out of the 528 prisoners received in the two years, only 46 ould neither read nor write, 66 could both read and write imperiectly, and 416 were among the readers and writers to whom the word "imperfect" need not be attached.
That's bad, isn't it? Then 483 of these had attended the public schools, while—think of it—only 45 never went to school! "That just shows what effect learning has on a mind that is really criminally inclined; it affords 'ne criminal tools with which work," does someone say? Perhaps. the other hand, what sort of weapons does it put into minds not criminally inclinedminds which make up the vast majority?

MINERS, CLERKS, CARPENTERS. Now do you think you can guess what tradespeople are most numerous in their contributions to the penitentiary? Two to one you can't. It's so unstable, this line of supply; it varies so. In the two years coal miners take the lead—15 in 1887, and 18 in 1888. But clerks were a bad second to the miners at the 14 in 1887, though they fall away to only 6 in 1888. Would you ever suppose, though, that carpenters would stand on the third round from the top in the criminal ladder—carpenters, the followers of the trade at which Jesus of Nazareth worked? Yet they do. There were six of them taken in in 1887, though only four ceived last year; but only two vagabonds among all those criminals. There were in the two years, 184 "laborers" received, to be sure; but then that term, as applied to avocation, is so broad as to include almost every able-bodied man who has no trade or profession. By the way, only four "pro-fessional men" were received in the two years-1 architect, 1 school teacher, 1 sexton and 1 book agent.

Before getting down to theories, here are some more of the hard facts in the report:

The inspectors ask to have the Legislature appropriate for the uses of the penitentiary in 1889-90: For finishing the south wing, $120,000; for two years' salaries, $70,000; books and stationery for-prisoners, $10,00. "And the usual gratuities to discharged prisoners."

The number of prisoners confined in the penitentiary January 1, 1887, was 707; January 1, 1888, 687; December 31, 1888, 683. Of the latter, 619 were white and 61 colored males, 8 white and 6 colored females; 163 single, 83 married and 10 widowed.

The favorite, or at least the particular crimes

The favorite, or at least the particular crimes

The ravorite, or at least the particular crimes for which prisoners were committed, were those against property—184—there being only $2 crimes against persons, or acts of violence. Larceny, burglary, forgery and counterfeiting lead in the former category, with 61, 8, 8 and 9 devotees respectively, while in crimes against the person the of victory, numerically, an "unlucky 13" of them having been received last year-12 for second degree and one first degree under commutation, to remain for life. The long sen-ers, 44; cooks, 9,etc. The prison has discharged, since its opening, July 1, 1826, 8,831 prisoners, of whom 1,022 have been pardoned, 256 bave d.ed. i have committed suicide, 33 escaped, 15 have gone out on habeas corpus and error writs and 89 have gone to insane asylums.

Now for extracts from the report combin-ing both fact and theory in most entertaining and instructive form. The inspectors arge cells have been provided in the new illarge cells have been provided in the new wing, according to the original plan of promotion for good behavior. As the building approaches completion we begin to realize the wastness and extent of the work entered upon some ten years ago, and we congratulate the State upon the possession of a structure which, when finished, for beauty of design, excellence of workmapship, strength and adaptation for prisen purposes, will be unsurpassed upon this continent, if not in the world.

An important question demanding legislation has recently arisen. On the eastern side of the prison property Messrs. Hartman and Pettel have laid out a plan of lets in such a way that the rear of said iots adjoin the outer walls of the prison. All efforts of the beard to persuade these gentlemen to change their plan so as not to endanger the prison property have been without avail, and after consultation with the proper authorities we have concluded to ask for legislation to authorize the Governorto purchase for the Commonwealth a strip of ground upon said prosperty that will be suffi-cient to brevent intrusion and injury. With reference to the important subject of LABOR IN THE PRISON we desire to say that what is known as the "public account" system is now in operation.

Usually an adequate appropriation is granted for plant and material, but our effort to secure such an appropriation at the last meeting of the Legislature was unsuccessful, and great difficulty has been experienced for want of capital. capital.

CAPT. WRIGHT'S CHIEF REFORMATIVE

Did it ever occur to the reader that the great body of the criminals, the felons in Western Pennsylvania's principal prison, were contributed from among the adherents of Christian Churches? Well, it's a fact, account for it as you may. The biennial report of the Western Penitentiary lies open on a desk before the writer, and it not only says so, but gives the interesting figures to prove it. The report, addressed by Inspectors Kelly, McCutcheon, Reed, Slagle and Trimble, and by Captain Edward S. Wright, warden, to the Legislature, is just completed and ready for perusal. It covers To meet the requirements of the law of 1883,

For example, with regard to the religious contributions alluded to above: The report shows that, of the 262 prisoners received at the penitentiary in 1887, 85 were Catholics, handsome new building, and then has this to say of a reform that he would like to see inaugurated:

A CLASSIFICATION SCHEME. One of the most prominent features in prise treatment is separate cellular confinement at labor, either in the cells or otherwise, as may be provided. For many years it has not been practicable to carry out this direction of the the prisoners among 262 felons, who had no law, as there have been more prisoners than cells. Now the conditions are reversed, and proper legislation will doubtless be enacted suited to the case.
Separate confinement is "in itself a crude

Other details, strengthening its force, are easily added when that essential feature is secured. A prisoner may be described as a lost citizen, whose recovery is earnestly desired by his family, friends and society. If he belongs to the ranks of accidental criminals much may be done for him by a firm yet kindly method of control. If he is to be trusted when again a free man, the State should trust him while in her control.

Classification should be tried in at least one of the penitentaries of this State. It is not an experiment, although of slow growth; and for the accidental criminal, more than any other, means "the slow opening of the closed hand, the gradual restoral, not by a foreign power to which he has been given way, but by humanity itself, which has held him for a time in a special care, and now gives him back to herself, to her own normal life, this prisoner whom she has never ceased to think of and treat as a true man."

HIS FAITH IN KENNA.

A Pittsburger Returns from Washington

With Several Ideas. Messrs. Samuel Bellman and 'Samuel Houston, of Butler street, have returned from a trip to Washington. Speaking of politics in the capital city, Mr. Bellman

"It is the general opinion of Democrats and many Republicans, that Kenna, the Democratic candidate from West Virgina, will be re-seated, as there is practically very little opposition to him.

"The inhabitants of the capital seem to attach very little importance to the Samoan affair, as it is not discussed very much.

"The principal talk is on the tariff bill.
In regard to the final vote on the latter, a curious mistake occurred. Riddleberger, the Republican, had paired with a Democrat on the preliminary votes, saying to him, 'Let us pair until the final vote,' meaning until before the final vote. The Demo crat, however, took another meaning out of it, and kept up the thing even on the final vote. As this was very close, it might have resulted differently had Riddleberger done as the Democrat did."

ALLEGED BURGLARS CAUGHT.

A Brace of Youngstown Cracksmen Captured Out in Sharpsburg.

Saturday evening Inspector Stevens, of the Southside, received a telegram from Youngstown, stating that two Poles, thought to be in this city, were wanted on a charge of stealing $350 and two gold watches. The Inspector located them in Sharps burg yesterday, and, early in the evening, had them lodged in the Twenty-eighth ward station house, subject to advices from the Youngstown authorities.

Enterprising Little Wash. The first number of a bright little paper, the Washington Journal, contains an interview with the parties who are pushing an electric light company in opposition to the home company. They say they will not use them taken in in 1887, though only four men could be counted who registered as having no occupation, as absolute vagabonds. Then there were ten carpenters rether that the westinghouse system, as they are afraid of the Supreme Court decision that was alleged to have given Edison the preference. They also claim an electric railroad will be run in connection with the plant.

A PROMISING NEW FIRM.

Paper Dealer, Thomas Palmer.

Among most business men, who have spent a life's energies in building up a trade and establishing the reputation of their house, when their career nears its end, there seems to be a strong revulsion against trusting the business in other hands, with other minds than theirs directing the affairs of their pet schemes which to them have been as children, watched and nursed from their infancy. They seem to forget that progressive America continually calls for new blood, new energy to keep pace with the ideas and desires of the new customers that a business house must constantly add to its rolls to assure its very existence.

If the late Thomas Palmer, Esq., of the wail paper and decorator's house, No. 416 Wood street, had any such scruples as these after a business career of nearly 40 years in that line, the present firm, which has taken charge of the business, indicate that the reputation of the house will not deteriorate, but advance beyond the hopes of its former

The new firm is composed of Mr. Kennedy Crumrine, Mr. A. Clark Bane and Mr. George A. Bassett, under the title of Crum-rine, Bane & Bassett, who will continue the business at the old stand and make many tence men who came last year yielded I for 25 additions to their large stock of wall paper years: 7 for 12; 3 for 11, and 7 for 10. During and decorators' articles, both wholesale and the year 25 got in under second conviction to this prison, 9 under third. 2 under fourth and 1 under fifth. The average population of the prison for 1888 was 664: the highest, 702. There were idle in the prison at the close of the year 78 persons, the others being mainly employed thus: In matting shops, 412; at iron work on new building, 34; laborers and sweepsale trade, which he will use to advantage as manager of the wholesale department.

The firm already have a large stock on hands, including the bon-ton of the wall paper buyer's and decorator's art, and are renovating and enlarging their storeroom capacity, with a view of likewise increasing their power to please their patrons and the many they yet hope to consider such. In this respect they have taken hold with a will, and deservedly ask a share of the pub
